Patricia Lago

Full Stack developer

I'm a full stack developer with a proactive approach to continuous learning. My passion for exploring both frontend and backend, along with my mastery of tools like React, JavaScript and MongoDB, allow me to bring energy and dedication to your team. I'm excited to grow and contribute to innovative projects.

Projects

MiauYuda (front-end & back-end)

Ironhack

My MiauYuda is a responsive application designed for people who have pets and need to consult a vet. Technologies used: React, JavaScript, Bootstrap, Node, Mongo, Express, HTML5, CSS3, and Git Hub.

RipCamp (front-end)

Ironhack

It's a responsive web application that connects current Data Analytics and Web Development bootcamps students to help them solve technical questions and problems. Built with Javascript, React, Bootstrap, HTML5, CSS3, and Git Hub.

Bricks Beaker (front-end)

Ironhack

The game consists of a paddle that the player controls to bounce a ball to break the bricks at the top of the screen. It has been created with HTML5, CSS3, object-oriented programming (OOP), Javascript and Git Hub.
